When providers, nurses and health professionals join and form unions, they work better. How?

They enjoy:

- Higher wages;
- Health and retirement benefits;
- Improved working conditions;
- Enforceable job security; & Due process & grievance resolution procedures.

AFT Connecticut's affiliated unions represent approximately 10,000 nurses and allied health professionals in more than 20 hospitals, community clinics, school districts and college-based settings. We have an unmatched track record for securing strong contracts, establishing safer workplaces, and protecting health professionals' rights on the job.
